

All In – Part 1 – People

Ice Breaker

What's something you've gone "all in" on in your life? What made it worth the commitment or sacrifice?

Discussion Questions

1. Why do you think it's possible to be deeply committed to church activities and still overlook the people around us?
2. Read Luke 10:25-37. What stands out to you about the lawyer's questions and the way Jesus responds? What observations do you have about the parable? The priest, Levite, and Samaritan each had different priorities. What do their responses reveal about what they valued most?
3. What does this parable say about what our priorities ought to be? Why do you think we sometimes find it easier to justify not helping someone than to get involved?
4. Jesus shifts the question from "Who is my neighbour?" to "Who acted like a neighbour?" Why is that distinction so important?
5. What are some of the barriers that keep us from building meaningful relationships with people outside the church? What difference does it make to genuinely be "for" someone rather than viewing them as a person we hope to bring to church?

Moving Forward

As you think about "The Four You're For," who are some people God has already placed in your life? What might it look like to pray for them, show up for them, and invite them into your life?

Jesus ends the parable with "Go and do likewise." What's one practical step you can take this week to go ALL IN on loving your neighbour?
